

CONNECTIONS

Connecting Thoughts

A voice cries out: "In the wilderness prepare the way of the Lord, make straight in the dessert a highway for our God. Every valley shall be lifted up, and every mountain and hill be made low.

the uneven ground shall become a level, And the rough places a plain.

Then the glory of the Lord shall be revealed, and all people shall see it together.

Isaiah 40:3-5a

These familiar words from the prophet Isaiah help us to understand what the period of Advent is all about. Advent is a season of preparation; yes preparation for the celebration of the birth of the Christ child, but even more, of preparation for the return of Christ and the full realization of the kin-dom of God and Christ's rule of love. During this season, the Spirit works on us to spread the fruits of its presence, kindness, love, mercy, patience and all the others.

Yet Advent is often difficult. It can seem like our hopes and expectation for the coming of the Beloved Community that Advent portends, leaves us all the more aware of how far we actually are from what God desires for us. That is even more true this year in the tri-pandemics of covid-19, prejudice, and politics. That roadway in the desert seems more circuitous, the valleys are like gorges, and the mountains and hills higher than ever. We have a lot of road-work to do if we are to "Prepare ye the way of the Lord."

But then at the end of Advent comes Christmas, and with the celebration of the birth of the Christ Child comes the realization that God has sent God's own son to clear the way through the wilderness of our life, our lives. Christ is the Way, the Truth and Life. The way has already been cleared, the way made straight, and we are free to walk this road of faith.

What would it mean to walk this way of life? You tell me. For you have been touched by Christ and shown the way. And as you walk that highway others begin to see in you what the way of the Lord is. Prepare the way of the Lord by walking in the light of the Lord, and show others the way.

May your Thanksgiving be blessed, and your Advent joyous,

Pastor Paul

Otherwise, 2020

Written in appreciation of poet Jane Kenyon

Sometimes, it is good to remember that things could be otherwise....

Despite Covid19 and social distancing, I worship on Sunday mornings with my community of faith. It could be otherwise! I can't believe I am saying this... but ...thank you Lord for Zoom.

Despite campus closures and being apart from roommates and friends, my kids are continuing with their studies, learning about the world and becoming adults. It could be otherwise! I can't believe I am saying this but thank God for Zoom, and bringing the kids back home.

Despite my lack of home office space, having my husband's office in our bedroom and the fact that my fingers don't type very well these days, I am able to work remotely. It could be otherwise! I can't believe I am saying this, but thank you Lord for Zoom, my having a full house again, and ethernet cable.

Despite it being Advent already, and faithful attendance at reopening committee meetings, I continue to wait for the church to gather in-person again. Lord, it sure could be otherwise. There could be worship together in our church worship space, watching as families light the Advent candles, lifting our voices together to sing favorite carols, hearing the Word proclaimed and sharing communion while sitting shoulder to shoulder with Sisters and Brothers in Christ. (cont'd)

But it is not otherwise. It is now! It is world pandemic, face masks, hand-sanitizer and 6 feet apart distancing.

I can't believe I am praying this? Thank you Lord for Zoom (even zoom updates), for kids, for never-ending laundry to do, for dishes left in the sink 24/7, for the constant raiding of the fridge and pantry, for ethernet cable everywhere—even up the staircase. Lord, thank You for the little bit of patience I feel from reminding myself: it could have been otherwise. But most of all, Lord, thank you for your peace: the peace I feel when I accept (maybe even enjoy?) that it is what it is...

All Blessings and Peace to you during this Advent season,

Pastor Ann

Please remember that our Worshipping Community will continue to need your financial support during this unprecedented time. Your gifts, your tithes, your offering envelopes will continue to support us through this challenge. Your contributions can be mailed to the church office or dropped through the mail slot in the door of the church office. You can also contribute to the Ewing Church online through the congregation's website, ewingchurch.org, or use the more efficient route of arranging for your bank to make a direct deposit to the church. This would allow you to make regular contributions from your account to the church's. If you are interested in this, please contact the church office and we will provide more information.

Note: Kindly make all checks out to: Ewing-Covenant Presbyterian Church. This is important so that we can close out the old CPC bank account.

Advent Devotionals

As we come to the season of Advent, we will be offering you two different Advent Devotional opportunities, both of them developed by the faculty and staff of Pittsburgh Theological Seminary. We will be emailing both devotional guides to your homes.

The first is called The Jesse Tree: Study and Activities, Advent 2020. It uses the great tradition of the Jesse Tree to guide us on the journey through Advent this year. The Jesse Tree is Jesus' Family Tree that is outlined in Matthew 1. It will include links to an introductory video, and instructions on how to create your own Jesse Tree. Over the next four weeks you are welcome to participate daily through the written curriculum or one time per week via video and the written curriculum.

Weekly Devotion

If you are doing this as a weekly activity, we recommend that you start with day four of the first week. The story of Abraham and Sarah in Genesis 18 has an accompanying video that explores the story in greater depth. You will find the weekly videos throughout the curriculum. If you are looking for all the videos in one easy location, they are on the last page of the study.

Daily Devotion

If you are doing daily devotions, the study provides daily readings and activities. Before doing the devotions, we recommend that you create a Jesse Tree as outlined in the introduction video. If you do not have a printer let us know and we will send you the pages that have the Jesse Tree ornaments. We will be adding the ornaments each Sunday to our own Jesse Tree in our Worship Space.

The second is called Advent Devotional 2020. It is a more traditional devotional guide, providing a scripture passage, a written devotional, and a prayer for your daily use.

These both will be emailed to our church households in time for you to begin using them on November 26th, 28 days before Christmas. (yes, that is Thanksgiving Day.) If you do not have email, contact the church office, and request the devotionals. We regret that the cost of mailing them will not allow us to mail them to everyone.

Reopening the Church

The Reopening the Church Committee has been hard at work the last 3 months developing the policies and procedures that will guide the decisions that will open our facilities for use again. The Session has approved the Policies and Procedures the committee has developed. And, while the Pandemic still rages, and the confirmed cases and hospitalizations are increasing in our area, we now know how we will proceed.

We are a long way from being able to gather for worship, but we do have in place the plans for how we will do so. As we come to that time, we will share that plan more fully with you.

For now, the Session has decided that we should be at Step Two of a 5 Step reopening plan, with Step One being a total closing of our facilities and grounds, and Step 5 being open with no restrictions.

Step 2 allows the staff to be present and meet with individuals on a scheduled basis. It also allows small groups of 10 and less to meet in rooms that allow for appropriate social distancing, if they are meeting for a purpose of function that cannot be accomplished on Zoom. Such meeting must be scheduled through the church office, and all must wear masks, carry out sanitizing of all furniture - and contact points, and be socially distanced. Currently the only group that is meeting is the Bell Choir. The 12-step recovery groups that have used our facility in the past are allowed to begin meeting again at this step. At any point, the pastoral staff or the Session decide we must return to Step On, we will close our facilities again.

The Return to Church Committee will recommend to the Session any further reopening of the facilities when it thinks that is appropriate. Watch the Connections Newsletter, the Pastor's Log and the Church web site for further information.

Visioning

The next two gatherings in our Visioning Process will be on Wednesdays, December 9th, and 16th. Join Pastor Paul in conversations looking at who this congregation now is, and what it is to become. The link for our conversation is: <https://us02web.zoom.us/j/86079729283>

Deacon's Doin's

December is here with all the preparations for the holidays, a time to reach out to those in need and celebrate family and friends this year in very distanced, safe, and still joyous ways.

The deacons have purchased gift cards for a number of our Head Start families and these were distributed right before Thanksgiving. Thank you to all who donated to this effort. In the spirit of the season, here are some ways you can safely share with those in need this year.

We will again be donating gift cards in lieu of food baskets to Head Start families.

Donations are welcome and can be sent to the church office, designated as deacons Christmas gifts. As always, non-perishable food is welcome and distributed to either Head Start families or the Eastern Service Workers. Many of you have asked about a way to donate a turkey, a bag of potatoes, vegetables or something else perishable.

This can be done by contacting the church office to arrange a time to put the items in the church refrigerator. Those distributing the food will then be notified that items are available.

Our Giving Tree this year is a Giving Box located in the Scout Hut. It is waiting for your donations of hats, scarves, mittens, gloves and socks which will be distributed to the children of Head Start with any thing extra going to families from Homefront and the Eastern Service Workers. If you wish to make a monetary donation, send it to the church office, marked Deacon's Giving Tree.

A holiday tradition that many cherish is making a gift in memory or in honor of a loved one. You may do this again this year by sending your contribution to the church office with your name and the names of those you wish to honor or remember clearly designated. These names will be printed in the January Connections. The donations will be used to buy a small number of poinsettias and decorations for the worship space with the remainder going towards the continuing ministry of the Deacons.

There are 43 children in the Head Start program who would be delighted to receive a book from us for the holidays.

There is a box in the Scout Hut for your donations with a list of suggested books attached. or a check can be made out to the church and designated Deacon's Children's Book Donation. Also the list is included below. Other books will also be gladly accepted (age range 1-5). You can also contribute school supplies for primary age children which will be given to several classes in Trenton. There is a separate box for those.

GOOD DEEDS—A HUGE Thank You!

My granddaughter Ember has completed the first phase of her Girl Scout Gold project which was collecting enough plastic bottle caps to exchange for something to put in her town's (Burlington City) public spaces. Thanks to all the people who brought me bags of caps and lids even after we were not meeting in the sanctuary. On November 5, 2020, she and her mother drove to Indiana with 425 pounds of caps and lids. They filled the entire six-foot bed of the pickup truck with bags of caps and lids. When they returned to Burlington on the 7th, they brought two six-foot park benches back with them and turned them over to the City of Burlington on the 12th. They will be installed at a later date. Many many thanks to all the kind people who helped her collect what she needed.

MISSIONS

...at home and around the world

Mission Doings:

We have decided on several worthy organizations and situations both here close to home and abroad to support at this time.

The Ewing/Covenant Presbyterian Church is donating $200.00 to the Presbyterian Historical Society which holds the National Archives of the PC(USA). It is based in Philadelphia and where we have kept historical records of the church, both paper and physical objects. Churches from all over the world will use the archives. If you want to know more about it ask Helen Kull about her use of the Archives in the research for Ewing's 300 year history. They are in the process of digitizing all of the records, making it easier and safer to answer inquiries and send results.

We are giving The Jinishian Foundation Mission Fund $500. Within the last few years we have had presenters from the Jinishian Foundation present several sessions on the Christian communities in Armenia and in particular Nagorno-Karabakh and have sent mission funds to them through Adult Education.

This current conflict and crisis in Nagorno-Karabakh in the Balkans seems to be a play by Turkey again to attain territory affecting Armenia and the tiny Christian Nagorno-Karabakh which is home to one of the oldest Christian communities—dating from the 4th Century. In 1992-94 there was war in which Armenia won separation from the Soviet Union and became democratic with a President and Parliament. But conflict over the borders particularly with Turkey and Azerbaijan have continued. Both the USA and Russia have been major players in trying to negotiating a cease fire.

At a recent webinar Emily Mkrtychian spoke from the crisis area. She is in Azerbaijan doing a documentary on the lives of four women whom she has followed for the last ten years. At that moment they were all living in bunkers as the shelling is continuous. Large missiles are flattening apartments and churches. The three attempts at a cease fire have failed. 80,000 are displaced. As of last week Russia brokered another cease fire but I have not heard yet if it is holding. But the people have been driven from the capitol which is almost flattened.

From the human perspective, traumas from the 1992-94 war have come back in spades, with echoes of the genocide and the fear that this will be a second time it happens. Landmines from the first conflict continue to be a problem. They want a cease fire that will hold. Because Nagorno-Karabakh is so small there is no recognition by the huge International Organizations that might be delivering humanitarian aid. What they need is funds for food and medical supplies.

The Jinishian Memorial Program through which funds are funneled to all of the churches in the area provides medical support, social assistance, education, spiritual uplift, community, economic, and health development. Eliza Minasyan is the Emergency Relief Assistant to Armenia since September 2020, she listed medical items, food, warm clothing, particularly for women and children displaced by full scale attack, as well as moral and psychological support to the war traumatized kids.

Offerings and ways to reach out to others:

Congregational Christmas Card. We donate the postage we would have spent on stamps for the card. This year we are asking people to send their donation by mail, electronically or delivering it to the Church Office. Please write on the memo line Christmas Card. The names will appear in the January newsletter. We will begin receiving this offering after November 29th. The committee is recommending to the Session that the money given this year goes to Presbyterian Disaster Relief for hurricane relief. An article will appear in the January newsletter.

The Christmas Joy Offering. You will be receiving in the mail a flyer and envelope for this offering (one of the 4 major offerings of PC(USA)).

“God is with us”. Matthew 1:23

During these past months, many of us weren't able to be together in person. But we have always been together in spirit, and in faith. God has been with us. And through our gifts to the Christmas Joy Offering, we are together with those who need our love and support.

Because God is with us, we see the potential of students of color who will become our leaders and we seek to come alongside them, to encourage them, to be with them. 50% of your gifts make it possible for students to learn and grow in faith at Presbyterian-related schools and colleges equipping communities of color.

Because God is with us, we see church workers who have critical financial needs and we come along side them, to assist them—we are with them. 50% of your gifts provide for current and retired church workers and their families with critical financial needs.

When we all do a little, it adds up a lot.

The Christmas Offering will be taken with envelopes already in the congregational pledge boxes. These may be delivered to the office, sent in either by mail or electronically through your bank. This offering will be reported to Session at the January meeting of Session to decide where this financial offering might be best used at this time. The Offering is usually received during the Christmas Eve Service. Write Christmas Offering on the memo line.
